Overview of Gifted & Talented Program

As part of the establishment of Gifted and Talented programs, opportunities must be provided for students with exceptional abilities in the Visual and Performing Arts. The Maine Learning Results serves as a guide to each School Administrative Unit for developing comprehensive and sequential standards-based curricula for student learning in eight content areas, including the Visual and Performing Arts.

Purpose of this Document

As of 2008-09, Gifted and Talented programs for the Visual and Performing Arts must be created for students with exceptional abilities in this content area in all School Administrative Units. The purpose of this document is to serve as a guide to help with the process of creating a program. This document also includes helpful resources and commonly asked questions and answers.

Chapter 104 Overview

This Chapter for the Department of Education was established to ensure that educational programs are created and implemented for gifted and talented students in each School Administrative Unit.

In this document you will find SEGMENTS ONLY of the Maine Rule, Chapter 104: Educational Programs for Gifted and Talented Children. The segments included are deemed necessary to provide guidance.

General Principles for Gifted and Talented Educational Programs

Gifted and talented children need to be challenged to develop their abilities and potential; therefore, specialized curricula that are advanced, conceptually complex and carefully differentiated from regular curricula shall be provided in lieu of the regular curricula.

Gifted and talented children:

- Need to move at their own rate, regardless of chronological age or grade placement;
- Need diversity in their educational experiences;
- Need to be challenged to develop their abilities and potential

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: Why should we provide gifted education in the arts?

A: According to Chapter 104, students must be provided with instructional programs to meet their learning needs. The Visual and Performing Arts section of Maine Department of Education Regulation 132 - Maine Learning Results: Parameters for Essential Instruction document can be found at:
<http://www.maine.gov/education/lres/vpa/>

Q: How many students can be enrolled in the G/T program for the four arts disciplines?

A: The NOTE in Chapter 104.06 states that students with exceptional Artistic Ability usually comprise five percent of the school population. This indicates up to five percent of students for all four disciplines of the arts combined: dance, music, theater, and visual arts.

Q: How do educational programs and practices address student learning opportunities?

A: The Maine Learning Results are available to guide local curriculum for the Visual and Performing arts and can be found at:
<http://www.maine.gov/education/lres/vpa/>

Chapter 104.04, General Principles for Gifted and Talented Educational Programs, states that gifted and talented programs in the State are to be based on the following educational principles:

- Gifted and talented children need to be challenged to develop their abilities and potential; therefore, specialized curricula that are advanced, conceptually complex and carefully differentiated from regular

Q: Are there community resources available to help in programming for gifted programs in the arts?

A: Local school district personnel should explore the community resources that might be available.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: Do the arts educators in my School Administrative Unit (S.A.U.) need to have the “gifted endorsement” to teach the identified gifted arts students?

A: If a teacher is reported on the Maine Education Data Management System (MEDMS) as a G/T teacher, and/or G/T funding is received, s/he must hold the 690 Gifted and Talented (K-12) endorsement.* For specific teacher certification questions, please call 624-6603 or email anne.wehrman@maine.gov or mark.cyr@maine.gov

* However, the arts teacher may be responsible for arts programming and not have the endorsement. In this case, funding for his/her salary is not allowable.

Q: If my S.A.U. doesn’t have a strings program or a dance program, are we responsible for providing programming for students who are gifted in this area of arts education?

A: A school district is only responsible for G/T programs in areas where a curriculum of study (a program) is in place for all the students in the school. Therefore, if there is an instrumental program but not a strings program, an S.A.U. is not responsible for providing a strings program for a gifted violin player. The same rules apply for a dance program.

Q: Does differentiated instruction fulfill the needs of G/T arts students?

A: Students need to be placed in classes that provide learning environments in which their individual learning needs can be met. Perhaps, one of the options above provides that place for a G/T student. Appropriate resources/staff outside the S.A.U. may be needed to fulfill the needs, however the instruction must take place during the regular school day.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: How does the S.A.U. communicate the G/T Arts program to parents?

A: Communication between the S.A.U. and parents will help insure the success of the G/T education being provided. Chapter 104.09.3 requires the S.A.U. to inform parents of the requirements, description and permission for participation.

Q: How much time does a teacher need to spend teaching gifted students in order for an S.A.U. to receive reimbursement for their G/T program?

A: At the K-8 level at least 20% of the teaching time must be spent exclusively in the gifted and talented program. At the High School level, the teaching time is directly related to the G/T class that the teacher is responsible for.

Q: In Chapter 104 the terminology “artistic ability” is used. What does that mean?

A: A: In the Maine Learning Results the arts are called Visual and Performing Arts. The Visual Arts include painting, drawing, sculpture, printmaking, pottery, jewelry, fibers and other media that is most commonly created in a 2 or 3 dimensional form.
B: The Performing Arts include singing, playing an instrument, acting and/or dancing. The term “artistic ability” includes creative performance, composition and/or expression in dance, music, theatre or visual arts.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: Is there funding available for materials, supplies and equipment for G/T programs?

A: Yes, there is funding available to support the G/T arts education programs through the local application for state subsidy. Funding is not available for equipment.

Q: Do all students have to be screened for the G/T arts programs?

A: Yes, initially all students must be screened. Thereafter, an annual review of K-12 students must take place annually.

Q: What if a district does not have someone assigned to administer the G/T program? Are we still responsible for establishing a program in G/T arts?

A: It is the S.A.U.’s responsibility to have a program in place for students gifted in visual and performing arts.

Q: Ideally, who should be involved in creating a program for G/T arts students?

A: Program planning should be provided by a group composed of at least one administrator, an endorsed G/T teacher, arts educator(s), classroom teacher(s) and others, whom the S.A.U. selects as worthwhile contributors.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: Is it necessary to establish a program for students in K-12 or may an S.A.U. select a particular grade level span?

A: A program must be in place for all grade levels.

Q: If I have a student who is very creative, does that automatically mean that s/he is gifted in the arts?

A: No, students are not automatically gifted in the arts. That is one reason why all students must be screened for G/T education.

Q: If a student is identified as gifted/talented in grade 4, does s/he automatically receive G/T services in every grade level after that?

A: No, a student is not automatically in the program each year. At the end of each year, each student's program is evaluated.

Generally students are identified at the elementary level and receive services until the end of 5th grade. All students are reevaluated going into the middle level for services in grades 6-8 or 6-12. However, no student automatically remains in the program each year.
